Time to support the baseball and softball teams this weekend!

Texas A&M Softball advanced to the College Softball World Series in Oklahoma City with a Super Regional victory over Tennessee this past weekend. Their first game of the World Series will be June 1st against the #1 overall seed Florida. The game is scheduled to start at 11:00 AM.

The baseball team will also start post season play this weekend as they were selected as the #3 seed in the Houston Regional. Their first game will be June 2nd at 2:00 PM against Baylor.
Update on Texas A&M Engineering Academy in Brenham

The Engineering Academy program is the only engineering transition program of its kind in the United States. Unlike traditional transfer programs, students admitted into the Engineering Academies are Texas A&M College of Engineering students from day one!

The Texas A&M-Chevron Engineering Academies at Austin Community College, El Centro College and Richland College, Houston Community College, and Texas Southmost College and the Engineering Academy at Blinn-Brenham are currently accepting applications for Fall 2017. The Texas A&M-Chevron Engineering Academy at Alamo Colleges will begin offering courses in fall 2018. Students are co-enrolled between two institutions, taking their math, science and core curriculum courses through the two-year institution, while taking engineering courses from Texas A&M faculty on the two-year campus. These Academies along with the local partnership with Blinn-Bryan increases the access and affordability to an Aggie engineering degree and contributes to the technologically trained workforce in Texas.

Scholarships!

Next month, applications will be available for all current Aggie students and those bound for A&M, provided they are Washington County residents or have parents that are members of our club. Those that have previously received a scholarship are not eligible. Your continued support of the club makes these scholarships possible. Stay tuned, and pass the word on for any Aggies you know to keep an eye out for more information next month.

Encourage Aggie students you know to apply for our scholarship!
